John Hall New Justice of Peace

John H. Hall, 65, former Comanche mayor, was appointed Tuesday by the Comanche County Commissioners Court to serve as Justice of Peace Precinct No. ... Comanche. The office vacancy was created by the January 1 death of Otis A. Braziel, who had held the post for 12 years.

Mr. Hall was also appointed by the City Council as City Judge—a position that Mr. Braziel also held.

Hall was reportedly named to the posts from a field of 14 applicants.

Mr. Hall's appointment as Justice of Peace, Precinct No. 1, is effective until a successor to Mr. Braziel's unexpired term of office, ending December 31, 1966, is chosen in the November 1964 General Election. The City Judge post is appointive, and does not come under the election code.

Mr. Hall said he plans to seek nomination to the Justice Peace post in the Democratic Party's May 2 primary. He will make his formal announcement within the next few days.

Leon Sledge, Comanche, deputy sheriff for the past three years, this week authorizes his announcement as a candidate for sheriff, Comanche County, subject to action of the 1964 Democratic Party primaries.

Sledge emphasized that he is making the race for sheriff on his own merits, "I am not a candidate for sheriff through solicitation, rather, I am soliciting the support of the citizenship of Comanche County in my race," he said.

Sledge said he would like to make it clear that in continuing his duties as deputy sheriff during the campaign period, he would be unable to spend as much time as he would like in meeting the voters in soliciting their support. "I have endeavored to give the citizenship of Comanche County my undivided time in carrying out my duties as deputy sheriff, and I will not neglect my duties, even though I would like to meet everyone in Comanche County to

County Oil Well Now Producing

Reopening of an oil test in the Energy pool, Comanche County, by W. C. Pettit et al, has resulted in a producer, pumping 33 barrels of 400 gravity oil, 2,760 to 2,764 feet. The Marble Falls production is located 1½ miles S.W. of the Energy, and represents recompletion of the former Tommy Stewart No. 3-A A. C. Pettit in the Louisa Pamplin Survey.

This recently completed producer was originally drilled and abandoned in May 1958 by Worth Thomason at 1,748 feet.

Pettit said considerable leasing activities has developed in the vicinity of the well. Pettit et al reported plans are for immediate Ellenburger tests, plus shallow tests in the Energy pool, resulting from the recent discovery.

Poll Tax Payments Lag; Property Tax Payments Good

With the January 31 deadline fast approaching, approximately 1,100 poll tax receipts had been issued through Wednesday, January 8, according to announcement from John Beaty, Jr., Assessor-Collector of Taxes.

Tax Officer Beaty points out that to qualify for voting in the important elections on schedule this year—the school trustee and city elections in April, the May and June Democratic Party primaries, and the General Election in November—just three weeks remain to pay this poll tax receipt in time to qualify.

Beaty says that his office force is keeping busy with a steady run of property tax payers—and that payment of county, state and school taxes is coming in far ahead of last year.

"For instance," Beaty said, "we collected $40,000 in property taxes in December 1962, and in December 1963, the total exceeded $80,000." Only $148,000 of $415,000 appearing on the tax rolls was uncollected as of January 4, Beaty reported.

Now Crristmas and New Year have come and gone, but at this writing we have all of 1964 ahead of us except the first five days. What we accomplish this year is partly up to us, but not all, by any means.

This was illustrated last week by the sudden death of Justice of Peace Otis A. Braziel. Hardly a working day passed without our dropping in to Mr. Braziel's office for a few minutes to exchange greetings. We always found him on the job, but ready to chat briefly.

Few public officials, men or women, at the courthouse during the last 35 years have stayed on the job more or worked harder at their task, than did Mr. Braziel.

—o—

We certainly appreciate the large number of Christmas cards and New Year greetings which we received during the last few weeks. It was our intention to recognize each of these in the last three issues and if we failed to do so, it was by mistake.

—o—

A long Christmas letter, partly personal, came recently from our second oldest sister, Mrs. Annie G. Peden of Goodnight, Texas in Armstrong County of which Claude is the county seat, about 40 miles from Amarillo.

Goodnight, almost a ghost town now, was once a flourishing town with a famous college and was headquarters of one of the largest ranches in Texas on which herds of buffaloes roamed in addition to thousands of head of cattle.

At the present what is left of the town of Goodnight is about to be wiped off the map, but ranching and farming continues in a big way.

Writing of the present plight of Goodnight, Annie writes: "Goodnight is being wiped off the map at a rapid rate. The old college building has been torn down and the old college dormitory has been sold to the Baptist preacher who intends to use the lumber to build him a home.

"However excitement still prevails once in a while in Goodnight. We had a burglar to strike in Goodnight the other night in the little store and post office. Mr. Newberry, the owner of the store and the postmaster was robbed about 3 a.m. He lost about $500 in merchandise including some watches and other jewelry and also some groceries including coffee and meat and can goods. The mail was broken into which is a Federal offense.

"Although the town of Goodnight is singing its swan song, farming and ranching are flourishing. We had a lovely fall and the yeild of cotton and grain has been the largest we have had in several years.

"The farmers were late in starting their machines for cotton on account of the frost coming so late.

"The first snow came on November 10 at 4:30 p.m. The radio station at Amarillo had offered two Goodrich tires to any one who would guess the nearest to the time of the first snow. An Amarillo woman won the tires. She guessed November 10 at 4:26 p.m., missing the time by 4 minutes.

"Although the farmers were late in starting their cotton gathering machines, they have really been putting in good time after they started.

"We stopped at a cotton gin near Martin to get some cotton burs for cow feed. The burs were piled so high that they looked like a small mountain. The yard was full of cotton trailers awaiting their turn to be ginned. The burs, which they give away, make good feed as they have lots of cotton left in the burs, so the cows get a lot of seed from them.

"One woman said her son-in-law gathered 18 bales of cotton with his machine in 5 hours.

"They say it cost about $40 to gather a bale of cotton by hand, but the machines can do it very, very much cheaper.

"Wheat is looking good, but is needing rain. The wheat farmers would like to have seen good rains during the last 7 months, but little fell. When they get good rain during the summer, they start pasturing their wheat about this time of the year and run the cattle in the wheat fields until about March.

"Those who do not have cattle of their own to pasture, take in cattle to pasture during the winter and sometimes make as much money that way as they do on the sale of the wheat.

"We were really sad and surprised at the assassination of President Kennedy. We watched the parade and listened at his speech in Fort Worth. He and Jackie seemed to be so happy.

"I was glad that Jackie brought the children to the funeral. I think that some people go to far in trying to shield children from the facts of death. I think it is good for them to realize that death is part of our destiny, as well as life."

Annie, who was 80 years old this Christmas, and her husband, Clarence, have had a rather romantic life mixed with some hardships. They reared a family of nine children, eight of whom are living.

Annie was born in Wise County about 25 miles from Fort Worth on a small farm which had no land in cultivation at the time our father moved there about two years before her birth.

When Annie was about 8 years old, our parents, with their children, who then numbered six, moved five miles into Parker County where our father established a country store which he called Knob. This location also was about 25 miles from Fort Worth and it proved to be an excellent trading post, where our father did a big business for a country store until his death 15 years later.

Annie, like the other children of the family, attended the rural school at New Hope, a mile northwest of Weatherford, until she was 16 years of age.

It was the custom in that community, and in many other sections of Texas, for the more ambitious country children, when they had finished all their rural schools had to offer, not to try to go directly to college, but to attend high school in some small town nearby.

So Annie and a girl friend decided to spend one year at Boyd High School, a railroad town about 10 miles northwest of Knob. She and her friend, to cut down expenses, rented a room and did light housekeeping. In this way Annie was also to take piano lessons and she became quite an accomplished piano player.

Annie then attended a Summer Normal and was able to secure a teacher's certificate. She then taught in the Rhome School, another town about five miles from Boyd for two years.

Later Annie attended North Texas State Normal College at Denton and obtained a permanent certificate and then taught in several small town schools before her marriage to Clarence Peden of Parker County, who grew up in a community adjoining the Knob community.

When Annie and Clarence married in 1909 they were very romantic and ambitious and decided to go "Pioneering". So they moved to the Territory of New Mexico where they homesteaded a large tract of land, three years before New Mexico was admitted as a State of the Union in 1912.

They lived in a "Dugout" among the prairie dogs and other animals of section and really endured the hardships and pleasures of real pioneers.

After they "proved up" their land, which they later sold, they moved to Hall County where they became prosperous farmers of the Memphis section before moving to Clarendon to better educate their children.

Clarence later became an employee of a railroad company and worked on the railroad for a number of years before he suffered an accident and had to go into semi-retirement.

For a number of years now they have been living at Goodnight where they are among the community leaders and are really enjoying life.

Annie, however, has never lost her love for Knob, although she has not lived there for over 50 years. Recently she inherited some Knob land and bought some additional land and says she may move back sometime when she "gets old", if she can persuade Clarence to leave Goodnight.

Comanche's New Law

The City of Comanche recently passed a law making it against the law for outsiders to come into Coamnche and solicit money or business or to sell merchandise or products for money without first getting a permit from the City.

Already several solicitors have had to pay fines for violation of this law and were also compelled to return the money to the people from whom they got it.

SUCKER SIGNALS

The State Bar Association recently has released an article along this line and sent it out to the various newspapers of the State, under the heading of "Sucker Signals". The article says:

"There is no sorrier person than one who has been victimized by a phony deal. Unfortunately, once a buyer has signed an order or a contract, little can be done to get him off the hoom.

"'But I didn't realize it', are words often heard by lawyers who are often unable to help the victim at that point.

"Despite the complete disavowance of 'Caveat Emptor' (Let the buyer beware) by ethical merchants, there are still some businesses that thrive on high promotion deals.

"Buyers are also often contacted by direct mail, over the telephone, or by 'Come On' advertisements, that promise something for nothing, or at prices below the cost of production.

"These contracts all resort to fancy claims and a high pressure approach.

* *

"There are some certain sucker signals that should ring the alarm bell such as the following:

"'Buy now or lose the chance.'

"'You have been specially selected.'

"'It is only a legal form.'

"'You can save up to ——.'

All the above mentioned signals do not necessarily indicate a bad deal, but they are frequently used by shady promoters. So if you have a proposition made you which you think might be shady, read it carefully, think it over, compare prices, and ask for information from a merchant or business man you know, or see your banker.

Remember in this world of business competition, one seldom gets anything for nothing.

Once you have signed an order, often even the law may not be able to help you, no matter how improvident the deal may be for you.

In fact unless the seller is doing something illegal, even the best lawyer in town may not be able to help you.

So watch the signals and remember the old proverb "Look Before You Leap."

How can you avoid such unfair tactics? In Comanche you can phone the City Hall and ask if the solicitor has a city permit to make the deal. But remember, the City only issues the permit to solicit, and is not endorsing any salesman or product. The best way, is to deal with reputable, established merchants, or other well known business people.

H. N. (Rusty) Russell, for many years one of the greatest high school and college football coaches in Texas, will end his career as a coach on March 1, when his resignation as coach at Howard Payne College, Brownwood, becomes effective.

Like many other famous football coaches, Rusty stayed in the profession for several years after his prowess as a coach began to fade. He came out of retirement to coach at Howard Payne the last two years, but was not able Howard Payne College, estab...lished as an academy in 1890, became a full college in 1915, but kept its academy department. It has an enrollment of about 400 in the academy and college during the regular session. The fall term will begin September 11. The academy will begin its work for the first time in the building purchased from the City High School. It will be a separate division from the college with strict discipline.

Howard Payne is affiliated with the State Department of Educa...tion. Those who finish the Fresh...man class receive a two-year high school teacher's certificate and a six-year elementary certificate. Those who finish the Sophomore Class get a 4-year high school certificate and a six-year elementary certificate.

Juniors receive six-year high school certificates and Seniors re...ceive permanent certificates. The graduates of the college can com...plete their Master's degree in one more year.

Comanche farmers are staying with cotton while De Leon is be...coming the hub of the universe as far as peanuts are concerned. De Leon farmers are now plant...ing the shelled peanuts, rather than the whole peanut. By plant...ing the shelled peanuts, skips are prevented and thus the yield is greater.

Mrs. L. C. Ridgeway, well known here, and founder of the Ridgeway Hotel, died at her home in Dallas Wednesday. Mrs. Ridge...way fade her hotel here famous for its meals all over Texas and traveling men always tried to make it to Comanche by night to get one of her good suppers and breakfasts the next morn...ing. By that time they were so charmed with her food that they had to stay over for the noon meal. Under the new management the quality and quantity of the food has not decreased.

A city-wide Sunday School movement has been launched in Comanche with the goal set to have every man, woman, and child enrolled in Sunday School.

A joint committee with repres...entatives of all the churches has been appointed. It is said that today not more than 30 percent of the people of Comanche are regular attendants at Sunday School and that there should be at least 90 per cent.

D. F. Eaton, who came to Co...manche in 1912 as a high school agriculture teacher and later was made County Farm Agent, has resigned to accept a similar place at Ballinger as Runnels County Agent; and his place here has been taken by G. W. Griffin of San Saba. Mr. Eaton proved him...elf to be a good County Agent and will long be remembered by the people of Comanche County.

The Comanche County Wood...men of The World Association was held in Comanche last week and it was the biggest thing of its kind that ever was held in Comanche. Ten Woodman Circle Groves and 14 W.O.W. Camps of the county were represented as follows: Comanche, De Leon, Gustine, Van Dyke, Cross Roads, Mercer Gap, Hasse, Sipe Springs, Flemings, Theney, Lamkin, Soda Springs, Gap, Sidney Rucker, Newburg and Democrat.

Mercer Gap won the Degree team contest. The next meeting will be held at Gustine.

There were present as many as 400 Woodmen who saw the ritual work put on in such an excellent manner as it never was put on in the county before.

Fresh Idea from MRS BAIRD'S BREAD

CUPBOARD ORGANIZER

If the small packets and envelopes of salad dressing mixes, dip mixes, sauce and soup mixes put your cupboard in a state of confusion, here's an idea you will appreciate. Purchase a plastic paper-napkin holder. File the packets inside the holder. It's easy to see what mixes you have on hand. Keeps the cupboard neat.

'64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan and (background) Impala Convertible

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet

What does it take to make a car a great highway performer?

If the car happens to be a '64 Chevrolet, one thing only. A highway.

You'll find everything else already neatly packaged for you—on the car exactly as you pick it off the showroom floor.

There's a choice of seven engines—all the way up to a twin-carb high-compression 425-hp V8*—and four transmissions, including a finely honed 4-speed stick shift.*

And underlying it all—a bump-skimming Jet-smooth ride that helps keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

What about special performance equipment? Professional driving skills? Forget them.

Nobody has to doctor or coax or soup up these Chevrolets to get the best out of them.

And that's really the test of a great highway performer: Just about anyone can get a kick out of driving one, just about anywhere, just as it comes out of the showroom.

Next time you're out your dealer's way, allow a few extra minutes to sample one of these highway performers on your own. A few are really all you'll need. That's enough time to do a lot of driving in a Chevrolet. *Optional at extra cost

Farm Sales Explained By County Agent

from COUNTY EXTENSION OFFICE

When a farmer or rancher voluntarily sells his farm land he must report any gain or profit as a result of the sale in that year's tax return, according to Billy G. Freeman, Area Farm Management Specialist at Tarleton State College, Stephenville. If the seller has owned the farm for a period of 6 months or longer the profit is considered a long term capital gain and only 50 percent of the gain is taxable.

If less than 30 percent of the total selling price is received in the year of the sale, excluding interest, the sale would qualify as an installment sale. The profit or gain from an installment sale is reported as income proportionately according to that part of the selling price which is received in that tax year. Then the remainder of the profit is reported on the same basis in the succeeding years according to the proportionate part of the selling price received.

An installment sale allows the seller to partially postpone reporting profits from sale. Thus the profits are reported over a period of more than one year resulting in a reduced tax liability. He simplay has to pay taxes at a lower rate.

If the seale involved your personal residence the residence portion of the profit would not be taxable if you reinvested the amount received for the residence (1) in another within a year, or for the construction of another residence to be occupied within 18 months providing the construction was begun within 12 months of the sale. If an amount less than that received for your residence is reinvested in another residence only the portion of the profits not reinvested is taxable.

Consult a competent tax accountant before you sell your farm or ranch.

All About Dogs

Older Dogs Need Weight Watching

If your pet is getting on in years he's probably putting on unhealthy and unattractive pounds.

Older dogs gain weight for the same reasons people do: curtailed activity without a reduction of food intake. Extra calories are not burned up but are turned into fat.

"Older dogs usually grow short-winded and lazy as fat thickens around their hearts and constricts the blood vessels," according to Clarence C. Fawcett, of the Purina Pet Care Center, St. Louis, Mo. "This usually results in a general slowdown of body functions. Sluggishness can lead to a number of diseases."

Fawcett says, however, that the overweight dog should not be put on a strict reducing diet.

The most effective way to put your dog on a diet, pet nutritionists note, is to cut down the total amount of food but increase the number of meals. Instead of a big bowl of Dog Chow at one time, dish out three-quarters or half the amount in three or four servings. Snacks and scraps must be eliminated no matter how persistently Rover hangs around the dinner table.

Living with a dog year after year may make it difficult for a master to know just when his pet goes over the safe-weight limit. If there is any doubt see a veterinarian. He can tell for sure and, if necessary, prescribe appetite-curbing medicines.

OUR SUNDAY SCHOOL VISIT

by CHARLIE HANCE, Comanche

By special invitation from Brother Joe Jones, president of the Wesley Sunday School Class, and Brother J. D. Smoot, Brother Tom J. Luker and others, we visited this elderly S.S. Class of the First Methodist Church in Comanche on a recent Sunday morning.

It was such a joy to engage in a real Gospel song-feast with and for these dear Saints of God. Some are nearing the Crossing perhaps, but even at that, they were just full and bubbling over. It made us think of some of the old Methodist revivals we used to attend many years ago.

These people know how to sing "Amazing Grace," "Sweet Hour of Prayer" and some other great old songs—their favorites. Brother Luker and I sang "Deliverance Will Come," then Brother J. C. Wilkerson wanted the class to sing "The Old Time Religion."

With what little time the teacher, Brother Hugh O'Brien had left, he brought a wonderful Sunday School lesson.

All in all, we enjoyed the visit so much, and if they don't watch, we might come again.

OLD TEXAS CAPITOL — An artist's sketch of the first permanent Capitol Building of the Republic of Texas in Houston is featured on a "First Day Cover" produced by the Rice Hotel for use with the 5-cent Sam Houston Commemorative Stamp. Houston, capital city of the Republic of Texas when Sam Houston was president, has been selected by the U. S. Post Office Department as the place of first day issue for the stamp on January 10. The Rice Hotel, where official dedication ceremonies are scheduled, rests on the site of the first Capitol Building. Stamp collectors and historians who desire copies of the First Day Cover, or cacheted envelope, can secure them without charge by writing Max Peck, general manager of the Rice Hotel.

Mr. J. C. Wilkerson, Editor and All of the Employees of
The Comanche Chief
Box 192
Comanche, Texas 76442

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

We of the local Post Office wish to thank each of you for the fine publicity you gave our Christmas mailing suggestions. Your cooperation was greatly appreciated and was highly beneficial to us in helping to make our job of moving the largest Christmas mail in the history of the Postal Service, easier and more efficient.

We are happy to state that every piece of mail mailed each day during the Christmas rush was started on its journey toward the destination on the day of mailing. We were able to distribute each letter, parcel, and paper without having to hold over to the next day. We are proud to have been able to do this and without any extra help of any kind.

We would also like to express our thanks to the mailing public for the extra effort they made to make our jobs easier. Any small contribution made by our patrons makes our task that much easier, eregardless of how small it may seem.

Thank you for your contribution and cooperation throughout the entire year.

Yours truly,
Jim
James E. Carpenter,
Postmaster.

Postal Receipts Show Gain Of $11,158.78

Comanche Postal receipts during 1963 showed an increase of $11,258.68 over 1962, according to figures compiled and released by Postmaster Jim Carpenter.

Local postal receipts in 1962 totaled $52,508.22. In 1964 the receipts were $63,766.90. During each quarter during the last year, receipts showed increase over the corresponding quarter during the previous year.

Speaking of the increased postal receipts, Postmaster Carpenter said, "This increase in postal revenue is due almost entirely to the increase in postage rates effective January 7, 1963. There appears to be little indication that postal business has increased in any appreciable amount."

Breaking the postal receipts down to quarterly figures for the past two years, the postmaster cited the following figures:

The Specialist In Medicine Today

This has been called the "age of specialization," and with good cause. For several generations the specialist in business, industry and the professions has become increasingly vital. In the field of medicine, in particular, the importance of the specialist can be seen.

According to the American Medical Association, there are 33 specialties in the broad range of medical practice. There is good reason for this: over the centuries medical science's body of knowledge has grown so vast, and become so complicated, that no one man could possibly retain it all. The truth is that the increase in knowledge created the medical specialist.

The pediatrician – the physician who specializes in the care of babies and children – probably has the most varied, and in many ways the most difficult task. For the health of a child, we now know, can have significant effect on his health in later years. Specialization permits your child to have the best possible attention.

Specialization also characterizes medical research. We have chemists, biochemists, microbiologists, nutritionists, pharmacologists – to name a few, all working to achieve longer life and good health.

But the pharmaceutical research specialist sometimes must go outside to other specialists for the solution to a problem. For example, the flavoring of medicine to mask an unpleasant taste is often necessary. This is especially true in medicines intended for children. The makers of Bayer Aspirin faced this problem when they decided to produce a special aspirin for children.

The problem: children tend to suck or chew any kind of medicinal tablet; therefore, the flavor selected for Bayer Aspirin for children must be pleasant throughout the chewing process, and it must leave a pleasant after-taste. Scientists who are expert in flavoring were consulted and, after long experimentation, orange proved to be the best flavor.

But artificial flavoring by itself did not achieve the desired effect. The flavor specialists then produced delightful "flavor buds" using real orange, which was exactly what the pharmaceutical company wanted. This, however, was not the final answer, for a special process had to be developed that would give a uniform and stable mixture, without breaking or crushing the orange "flavor buds."

Thanks to the contributions of these various research specialists, the benefits of the most widely used medicine in the world are pleasantly available for children as well as adults.

Letter To The Editor

January 7, 1964

The Comanche Chief,
Comanche, Texas.

Dear Sirs: I would like to make a statement at this time since I have been asked a number of times if I intend to make the race for County Sheriff.

I see by the paper that we already have three candidates, and being well acquainted with all 3 of these fine gentlemen, I'm sure either one would continue to follow in the footsteps of our present fine Sheriff and make as good a record in the next four years as we have had in the past seven. They have been loyal supporters of the present sheriff for 7 years and I cannot see why they would do any thing but continue his fine record.

For this reason I have decided not to make the race for sheriff.

Sincerely yours,
GUS WILHELM

Seth Moore, former Comanche businessman, who has been in Fairbanks, Alaska for the past several years, was back here this week for a visit with his father, S. A. The voting regulations of the United Nations are a marvel of unrealistic procedure. The most recent addition to the membership of this would-be world regulating agency, tiny Zanibar, in the Indian Ocean, makes the 113th member—and a case in point. The total population of Zanibar is said to be about equal that of Omaha, Neb., 310,000 yet she will have one vote in the General Assembly, the same as the U. S.—the greatest nation on earth. If Zanibar's voting record follows that of many other small nations her vote will frequently cancel out the U. S. vote right down the line. It appears that voting rights in the U. N. should be based more on a nation's population, at least up to a reasonable figure.

How old is the bread grain of the world—wheat? No one knows exactly but when King Tut's tomb was opened some 44 years ago, after being sealed for 4,000 years, a few grains of wheat were found. They were planted to see if they would germinate. They did, and the wheat was surprisingly like some of the present day varieties. Of importance is the fact that the germ of life is rugged enough to survive through eons of time then reproduce its likeness. It didn't just happen—a wonderfully wise Creator planned it that way.

By not approving the $11 billion tax cut, as proposed by the Administration last year—without a corresponding reduction in spending—Congress wasn't asleep as some backers of the measure claimed. It appears now that Congress was wide awake to the afct that the cut wouldn't be needed to stimulate the economy since the Gross National Product hit a record high in 1963 of more than $584 billion, $29 billion more tha nin 1962. Everybody wants a tax cut but the same people also want a balanced budget and an end to deficit spending.

Something new in New Orleans: A man dying recently in this city, when his kidneys quit functioning, was saved by kidney transplants — kidneys taken from a chimpanzee. A great drought lasting from 1276 to 1299 A. D. forced the ancestors of the Pueblo Indians to leave their homes on the plateaus and cliffs and settle in the river valleys.

Texas Almanacs, A Must For Texans

Many new features in the 1964-1965 Texas Almanac, just published by The Dallas Morning News, have been added to material that has made this 106-year-old publication the "Encyclopedia of Texas."

Texas' increasing urbanization is emphasized in special pages containing photographs and comparative statistics for 21 metropolitan areas, including the cities of Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Harlingen, San Benito, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Galveston, Texas City, Houston, Laredo, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, San Antonio, Texarkana, Tyler, Waco and Wichita Falls.

Maps of 254 counties and data on all counties and cities of Texas have been brought up-to-date, including population and other figures from the 1960 U.S. Census. New features are a County Economic Index, and maps showing leading Texas counties in production of crops and livestock.

Texans who like to brag will find ample ammunition in two pages showing the rank of Texas among states, and in proportion of the United States total, in leading categories.

Other data appearing for the first time include carlot shipments of fruits and vegetables and added information on export-import trade.

Texas landmarks are listed by counties in a special section, revised through information obtained from authorities on county histories.

All Governors of Texas and Presidents of the Republic of Texas are pictured in the historical section.

Agricultural information has been completely revised, with the help of authorities of Texas A&M, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and others. For this and other sections, several thousand Texans have supplied information and photographs, according to Walter B. Moore, editor.

Election returns, the text of the Constitution of Texas with amendments adopted through 1962, a list of wet and dry counties, maps of Texas Senatorial, Representative and Congressional Districts, lists of state, county and municipal officials, and other information are found in the discussion of politics and elections.

Water, soils, plant life, weather, wild life, minerals, employment and labor, manufacturing, service industries, and hundreds of other topics are summarized in the 688 pages.

A widely-used section is the list of more than 500 state-wide civic organizations, with their chief executives and home addresses.

A comprehensive index increases the usefulness of the Texas Almanac's data for schools, businessmen, public officials, writers and speakers, and others. While it is primarily a reference publication, more than 400 illustrations, including a 4-color photograph of the Alamo on the cover, are expected to make the publication popular as a gift item for individuals and business firms.

The Texas Almanac is on sale in Comanche at office of The Comanche Chief.

Those New Xmas Toys May Present Many Problems

by J. E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner, Texas State Department of Health

AUSTIN — Attention, youngsters who got new bikes or guns for Christmas. This story is for you.

They're beauties, aren't they—the bike, the gun? But do you understand the new responsibility they impose? They imply that you're well on the wal to growing up.

When your parents gave you the bike, it was an expression of their respect for your understanding of traffic rules and signals.

They're betting your judgment is mature enough that you will ride only on the right side of the street with the flow of traffic, and that you will always walk your bike through heavy traffic.

Your parents—by their gift to you—demonstrated their belief that you have enough discretion to light up the bike when night-riding, not to ride double, and never hitch a ride behind a car.

They're counting on you to give proper hand signals and to ride single file when out with your bike-owning buddies.

If you got a gun for Christmas, your parents are—in effect—saying the same thing: that they trust your judgment and common sense.

They know a gun is the weapon of a man, or a bright lad well along toward manhood.

If your parents are right, you will treat every gun as though it were loaded. You'll unload yours when it isn't in use, and you'll be constantly alert to muzzle direction when handling it.

A man who knows guns is always sure of his target before he shoots, and he never points at anything he doesn't intend to kill. Such a man has better judgment than to climb a tree or a fence with a loaded weapon.

A skilled gun handler like you want to become never shoots without checking the barrel for obstructions, and never shoots at flat hard surfaces or at water because of the possibility of ricochet. He stores his ammunition and his gun separtely to avoid accidents.

It takes intelligence and good judgment to follow the rules of bicycle and gun safety, to live up to the responsibilities ownership imposes.

Your parents are convinced you have the necessary qualifications. Have you?

Here's why more and more stockmen are switching to MoorMan's

Feeding MoorMan's with grain and roughage makes sense to an increasing number of stockmen. And growth in numbers of livestock fed MoorMan's is even greater than this tonnage chart indicates—because each ton of MoorMan's® concentrated concentrates balances and fortifies more farm-grown feeds than most ordinary feeds or supplements.

MoorMan Products are research-proven three ways by more than 75 skilled research workers: Through development and quality control; in exhaustive tests on this or one of our other two Research Farms, totalling 1,280 acres; and in Field Research on hundreds of working farms and ranches in various parts of the nation.

Helpful suggestions on feeding and management of livestock and poultry are supplied by MoorMan's Research and Service Departments—based on our Company's experience since 1885. This is only part of on-the-farm service provided by MoorMan Men.

You, too, can hold down your total feed cost to produce meat, milk or eggs when you feed MoorMan's with grain and roughage. You buy only the essential ingredients you cannot raise or process yourself—just proteins, minerals, vitamins, antibiotics and other working ingredients in "one-package" concentrated concentrates. You buy no filler, no added fiber, no grain by-products.

I'll be glad to give you an estimate of the low cost of feeding on a MoorMan Program.

Typical of MoorMan leadership was first-in-the-industry development in 1952 of protein-mineral-vitamin blocks for self-feeding to cattle on grass or roughage. Gigantic presses like this turn out 10 different Mintrate® Blocks to fit varying pasture or roughage conditions. More than 18,000,000 Mintrate Blocks fed successfully.

Maidens Win Thriller 47-46; Indians Blast 'Dogs 73-41

Comanche Cagers Remain Undefeated; Beat Hamilton

Comanche High School basketball teams, both the boys and the girls, won a pair from Hamilton here Tuesday night—to remain undefeated with two straight victories each in 8-AA District competition.

The Indian teams share the district lead with the Granbury Pirates in both divisions—along with undefeated Stephenville in the girls division.

Maidens Win Thriller

The Indian Maidens and the Hamilton lassies played a real thriller—with the locals coming from behind in the last two seconds of play to cage Hamilton, 47-46.

Hamilton girls held a 46-45 margin with two seconds to play as Indian Maiden Dorothea Byrd was fouled as she went in for a lay-up. She toed the free shot line with the first of two throws, and calmly hit the bottom of the basket to knot the count at 46-46—with one free shot left. She then threw another perfect strike, and the Maidens emerged with a 47-46 thriller. In the final four minutes of play, not over 1 point separated the two teams—and before the final buzzer sounded, the locals had previously missed on five straight free tosses.

Boys Win Easily

The Comanche boys had a much easier time with their 8-AA rivals, and sprang off to a 10-0 lead before Hamilton ever got on the scoreboard. The count was 14-7 at the quarter, and 29-14 at the half.

The final score was 73-41. Hugh Fletcher led the Indians with 26 points, despite sitting out much of the game on the bench, as the reserves took over. Fletcher, enjoying one of his hottest nights of the season made 8 of 9 shots from the field, and had a perfect record at the free throw lane—tossing in 10 straight pitches, for 26 points. Fletcher and Skipper Shumpes, who grabbed runner-up scoring honors for the locals with 11, were the game's leading rebounders.

Alton Todd, Hamilton guard, turned in a spectacular performance—and gained the high point scoring honors of the night, looping in 29 points for the Bulldogs.

Other scorers for the Indians were George Salois 8, John Norris 1, Billy Williams 5, Tommy Willis 7, Coney Elliott 7, Don Feist 1, Gerald Ebell 4, and Kenneth Hagood 1.

Coming Indian Games

The Comanche teams journey to Cisco for a pair of 8-AA games Friday night, January 10.

Next Tuesday night, the "A" and "B" girls teams of Stephenville come here for conference affairs.

No Screwworm Cases Since Dec.

by ANGUS DICKSON, JR., County Agent

No screwworm cases have been reported in the Southwest since December 20, 1963. A 1963-year-end recap shows nearly 90 percent decrease in screwworms over the year 1962.

Sterile flies will continue to be released in all areas where native or fertile screwworms can survive. Vigilance on the part of producers remains of paramount importance.

Highlay favorable eradication results and the need for economy measures have resulted in several very significant changes being made in operation of the screwworm program, including the following:

Sterile fly production is being reduced from an average of 140 million per week to 70 million per week.

Approximately 150 persons, or 30 percent of the working force at the Moore AFB plant, have been removed from the payroll.

The employment of all of the USDA screwworm livestock inspectors working in Texas has been terminated.

The San Antonio fly distribution center has been closed.

The fly release zone in Texas has been reduced.

Program officials at Mission and Austin said the decision to cut production and personnel was prompted by successful eradication measures which to date have brought the native fly population practically to zero and have reduced the area where sterile flies are needed. The need to conserve funds now to insure that money is available if emergency measures must be initiated later in the season is also important. They feel that 70 million flies per week should adequately cover the area where screwworms could survive this winter.

With the reduction of the area where fly release is being conducted, the need for the San Antonio distribution center no longer exists, officials said. Centers at Mission, Del Rio and El Paso can adequately cover the present fly release area, they believe.

The 21 livestock inspectors employed by the Texas Animal Health Commission are expected to be sufficient to handle any eradication and control measures needed this winter and spring.

Diamond cutting dates back to the discovery in 1465 that diamonds could be polished by ond dust.

FEED FEED FEE

Range Cubes Sweet Feed Dry Peanut Hulls

A new feed mill, a new pellet mill and we can now offer you our hi-roughage range cubes good enough to feed on the ground and soft enough that livestock will eat readily. With out new pellet mill, we are able to put 15% molasses in the cube and it smells real good.

Did you know that molasses has 298,398 units of energy to each 100 lbs. of digestible matter. Corn has 136,333 units. This information from USDA bulletin 125.

Molasses contains 70 per cent carbohydrates and is 100% digestible. It is a milk producer and high in mineral substances.

This is why we believe our high molasses hi-roughage range cubes are your best buy. When you need more feed, try some. We have a 12% medicated cube, a 15% and a 20% range cube in cow size and sheep and goat 3/8 inch size. We also stock Wayne's horse feed Alcomo, calf starter feed, dog feed, Kimbell's 38% protein blocks at bargain prices.

GROUND PEANUT HULLS	$20.00 per ton
SWEET FEED (80% hulls, 20% molasses) ton lots	$28.00 per ton
70-20-10 (a sweet feed with 10% conc.)	$38.00 per ton
12% RANGE CUBE with Aureomycin (this cube has no urea and is a good calf feed or range feed for all livestock including horses)	$54.00 per ton
15% RANGE CUBE with Urea	$48.00 per ton
20% ECONOMY RANGE CUBES with Urea	$52.00 per ton
20% COMANCHE BEST RANGE CUBE	$67.00 per ton

You must bring your bags or bring ours back. We add nothing to our prices for bags. All feeds are in second hand burlap—any of your bags will be acceptable. If we put our feeds in paper or purchase burlap bags, we would have to add $4.00 to $5.00 per ton to these prices. We believe you had rather save this money and furnish your bags or agree to bring ours back when emptied.

At this time, we have a limited amount of our peanut stem meal which is really a good product, a high milk producing feed. Contains around 15% protein and 6 to 7% fat. This is a bargain at $45.00 per ton ground.

Peanut hulls carry as much food value as cottonseed hulls and most hay such as Johnson Grass. During the past 5 years, they have become increasingly popular in feeds where roughage is needed. We are now selling a sizeable percentage of our hulls to commercial feed lots and you don't fool these people. Peanut hulls carry 7% crude protein with from 1.5 to 3.0% digestible. Cottonseed hulls have 4% crude protein and .01 digestible protein. We know that pelleting a feed with hulls in it improves the digestibility of the peanut hull and therefore gives you even more food value. For this reason, we believe our 12% and 15% protein range cubes is our best values. Since we are in the peanut shelling business, no one can produce a high roughage cube using peanut hulls as cheap as we can because we handle this item in bulk with no labor cost or freight involved. We produce and sell some 5,000 tons of peanut hulls a year and have no trouble selling this item. Therefore we make a high roughage range cube because we believe it is a good cube—not to help us sell our hulls. We will make you a range cube with or without peanut hulls but we do have this item readily available if you need roughage. We have moved our feed mill just south of the Santa Fe railroad and east of Lightfoot scales. James Mercer is in charge of the business and the telephone number is 356-3472. We are also in the process of changing the name to the COMANCHE FEED CO., INC. James will be glad to talk to you and show you our feeds.

use, working in his office, before noon and conferred with Secretary of State Dean Rusk by telephone, repeatedly, on the Cyprus crisis.

Later, he named a nine-member committee of experts to evaluate foreign economic and military aid programs and recommended how to strengthen them.

In doing his homework for the important Erhard visit, Johnson conferred in person with these distinguished government officials at the ranch: Secretary Rusk, Under Secretary of State George W. Ball, Special Ambassador Christian Herter, Agriculture Secretary Douglas Freeman and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant for national security affairs.

Theodore Sorensen, special White House counsel, was summoned to assist in preparation of the new President's first state of the union message. (It was delivered before the Congress on January 8.)

Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, and John A. McCone, Central Intelligence Agency director, were among others called to confer with the President, in addition to regular staff members.

Press members from Washington and foreign countries, as well as the native Texans of the State capital beat, were invited back to talk and eat with the President on Friday.

In addition to official talks, there was a program of fun for Chancellor Erhard, a portly ex-professor. He toured Fredericksburg, home of many German-speaking Texans, and attended church at Bethany Lutheran Church there Sunday. More than 200 turned out for a barbecue luncheon honoring the Chancellor at the Stonewall High School gymnasium three miles from the ranch.

When Erhard departed, Johnson turned immediately back to the national budget and went into a huddle Monday with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and the joint chiefs of staff.

So it went as the President wound up his "holiday" and prepared to return to the regular schedule in Washington.

Press Coverage—For many years, Austin's stately Driskill Hotel has been President Johnson's home away from home. Now it is the home away from home for some 75 to 200 news reporters. They "cover" the White House, whether it is on the Potomac or the Pedernales.

The Crystal Ballroom, usually the setting for brilliant Christmas and New Year's balls, has been a working pressroom during the 1963 holiday season. The "Press Center" covers the hotel's mezzanine and extends to quarters occupied by White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger and his staff.

In the Driskill, the press corps waits for word of cuts in federal employment, the President's luck at hunting, statements on Cyprus and on repercussions from his meeting with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany.

At times, the news from Johnson's LBJ Ranch near Stonewall is delivered via a "press pool", in which four reporters are assigned to represent all their colleagues. Other times, the whole corps is bundled into buses for the trip to the ranch over U. S. 290 and the newly-designated Ranch Road No. 1.

Some of the press-center setup will remain intact in the Driskill Hotel for presidential visits in the future. This may be for the next year, or the next five years, or, perhaps, the next nine years, according to voters' reactions to the news that this army of reporters turn out.

Animal Health Appointments—During his convalescent period in the Mansion, Governor Connally picked two new members for the Texas Animal Health Commission to succeed Dr. Robert Hartman of Victoria and George Apple of McKinney.

New commissioners are Dr. J. Ray Martin of Coleman and C. E. (Ed) Knolle of Sandia. Dr. Martin, a graduate of the Veterinarian School at Texas A&M, has practiced veterinary medicine in Coleman since 1946.

Knolle is co-owner and manager of Knolle Jersey Farms in Jim Wells and Nueces counties. A University of Texas ex-student, he is past president of the Texas Jersey Cattle Club.

School Drop-Outs — During the holidays Governor Connally has been Texas' second biggest newsmaker (second only to President Johnson. He stirred a lot of interest when he turned attention to what is considered by many to be the state's first problem: school drop-outs.

Connally asked the Texas Education Agency to develop a plan for pilot programs to help local school districts find solutions to the drop-out situation. He described it as "one of our most severe educational and economic problems."

According to the Governor, "Last June, Texas high schools graduated only 87,640 of the 196,032 first-graders who entered school in 1951. Nearly 59,000 dropped out before reaching the 9th grade and 50,000 left between the 9th grade and graduation."

Connally quoted a Texas Employment Commission prediction that by 1965, the nation will have three young people without high school diplomas chasing after every two jobs available to them, while there will be only five high school graduates available for every seven jobs requiring that much education.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Baxter, Comanche, have announcement the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dina Baxter, to Gary James Greenwood, son of Mrs. D. L. Massey, 8109 Redwood Drive., Fort Worth. The couple are students at Arlington State College. Miss Baxter is a former student of Comanche High School and a graduate of Big Spring High. She was recently chosen one of the six beauties representing Arlington State College. She is a member of various clubs and committees including the Bnsiness and Economics Club and the Vacqueros. Her fiance is a junior at Arlington State and majoring in chemistry. He is a graduate of Arlington Heights High School in Fort Worth.

Loan Offices Licensed—Regulatory Loan Commissioner Frank Miskell issued a total of 1,630 licenses to be displayed by consumer credit companies which make loans up to $1,500. Licensing was the first major step under the Texas Regulatory Loan Act which went into full effect on December 21.

All of these licensees—ranging from a single lender in New Boston to a 60-office Family Finance chain—now will be under state supervision. A lot of "loan sharks" who could not, or would not, meet the new state requirements were flushed out by passage of the law.

Loan lobbyists estimated earlier in the year that there were 2,200 loan offices in the state, but only 1,895 filed letters of intent to file applications for a license. Then some 265 never followed their letters with applications.

Commissioner Miskell refused to license 30 applicants, and nine of these have suits against the state pending in federal and state courts.

Slant-Hole Sums Recovered—Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr announced the recovery of $110,000 from two defendants accused of slant-hole oil well operations.

Of this, $10,000 was recovered from G. M. Jordan of Kilgore, following a judgment entered by 53rd District Judge Herman Jones, and $100,000 from J. G. Walker of Tyler, charged with operating wells illegally.

Carr said the money will be placed in the State Treasury.

Opinions — The attorney general ruled that an agreement of passage of title made by joint owners of a motor vehicle would not be sufficient to authorize the State Highway Department to issue a new certificate of title to the motor vehicle in the name of the surviving joint owner.

He also made a ruling on fee collections in criminal convictions, other than homicides, and ruled out Texas A&M University's claim to a $3,000 education bequest which has been held in the Governor's Suspense Fund nearly 30 years. The bequest will remain in the fund until the benefactor's requirements are met.

Railroad Dispute — Officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen believe a Texas law requiring "full crews" for trains will keep firemen here on the job in spite of a recent national arbitration board ruling aimed at elimination of some firemen from railroad crews.

But the Texas Railroad Association does not believe the state law will prevail. Furthermore, it estimates the ruling will not immediately effect more than 20 of the 1,800 railroad firemen in Texas.

Motorists Warned — Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, issued a special warning to car owners that tough NEW amendments to the Texas safety responsibility law become effective on January 1.

Amendments require that drivers prove their ability to pay for damage to others in traffic accidents. All accidents resulting in $100 or more damage, injury or death must be reported in writing to the DPS within 10 days. Accidents not involving death or injury and resulting in as much as $25 in damages also must be reported. But these do not come under the safety responsibility law.

Licenses will be suspended unless both operators and owners of cars in accidents coming under the law can prove adequate liability insurance coverage.

Minimum requirements are $10,000 covering liability for one person, $20,000 for two or more persons; and $5,000 property damage. Otherwise they must establish financial responsibility, if they are at fault.

Suspensions of licenses and registration will be for a period of two years unless requirements of the safety responsibility act are fully met.

Industrial Effort Cited — Texas Industrial Commission won the 1963 professional trophy award of the Society of Industrial Realtors for its efforts to bring industry to Texas.

Society, which headquarters in Washington, presents the award annually to the State or Canadian Province with the most effective industrial development program.

Award will be presented at a banquet in Washington on January 31.

During the last year 317 new plants and warehouses have located in Texas. Texas ranked second only to New York in these locations during the first half of the year. For the last five years, the annual average of new locations in the state was 294. Manufacturing employment increased 173.4% between 1939 and 1962.

Construction Rises—The seasonally-adjusted index of total construction authorized in Texas in November amounted to a three-per-cent increase over October.

UT Bureau of Business Research predicted that the November gain probably will cause the construction industry to top its 1962 total.

Short Snorts Texas public school cafeterias will serve 2,400,000 pounds of chicken in months ahead. This is Texas' shart of 50,000,000 pounds bought by the U. S. Department of Agriculture with school lunch funds.

O. J. McCullough, Houston tool manufacturer, has applied for a charter for the National Association for the Advancement of White People.

Former State Sen. Bob Baker of Houston, who ran unsuccessfully for governor in 1962, picked up official filing papers here and said he will be a candidate for statewide office again. Speculation is that he will run for lieutenant governor or land commissioner.

Water storage in Texas reservoirs increased 26,100-acre feet in November. This brings the total to 7,200,000-acre feet or 61 per cent of capacity.

January 31 Is Deadl'ne For Filing 1963 Wool Applications

Farmers have until the end of January to file applications for 1963 marketing year payments under the National Wool Act, William F. Bryant, Chairman, Comanche Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, reminded producers today. He emphasized that January 31, 1964, is the last day for accepting payment applications in connection with marketing of either wool or lambs during 1963.

Since this is several months earlier than under previous wool programs, the chairman urges that producers avoid possible confusion by filing their applications on completed sales as soon as possible.

Bryant points out that the 1963 marketing year under the wool program ended the last day of December 1963. Future wool marketing years will be for 12 months and will coincide with the calendar year. The January 31, 1964, deadline for filing 1963 applications is in line with normal program procedure of continuing to accept such applications for a month following the end of the marketing year.

The 1963 program payments—which probably will begin in April—will cover shorn wool and unshorn lambs marketed during the 9-month period, April 1, 1963, through December 31, 1963. Later marketings will be eligible for payments for the 1964 marketing year, which will begin the first of the year.

The necessary sales records accompanying the applications will be the basis for calculating the national average price received by farmers for wool during the 1963 marketing year. When the average price can be determined, the payment rates for shorn wool and unshorn lambs sold during the 1963 marketing year will be announced. Congress authorized the National Wool Act in order to encourage the domestic production of wool.

solicit your support," he said.

"I would deeply appreciate the investigation of my efforts to make you a good officer during the past 3 years. Should you find in your mind, that my candidacy for sheriff meets your approval, I shall be deeply grateful for your support," Sledge said.

Sledge, 42, is married to the former Nina Cate. They are the parents of a daughter, Mrs. Glenda Taber, Comanche, who has two small children; and a son, Jimmy Sledge, sophomore in Comanche High School.

Sledge and his family own a home in Comanche, but in his capacity as deputy sheriff, the family resides now in the County Jail. Mrs. Sledge serves as jail matron and serves as part-time radio operator for the sheriff's department.

A native of the Soda Springs community, Sledge is the son of Luther Sledge, Comanche. He attended school at Soda Springs, Beattie and Sidney. The candidate for sheriff engaged in farming, and was an employee of the Comanche County REA when he accepted the deputy sheriff post.

Sledge, an Air Force veteran, served for 16 months in the Southwest Pacific during World War II. For a year he was stationed in New Guinea.

He has continued to fly and currently spends much of his time in the Gooch Paking Company's Piper flying around the country to auctions and feed lots.

After leaving the service at the end of World War II, Morford went to work for Wilson & Co., being hired personally by the late president of the packing company, Thomas E. Wilson. For the next 16 years he rose from cattle buyer, auction buyer and yearling buyer to head livestock buyer.

It was during this period that he came to know Pete Gooch, the president of Abilene packing co., and was hired to buy cattle in this area.

Morford and his wife Margaret, who live in Abilene, have four sons.
